

Spolana has announced the scheduled start of production

With regards to previous notice of Force Majeure, announced due to the heavy floods in the Czech Republic in June 2013, Spolana has informed its business partners of the planned schedule for restarting of the production units:

Facility	Planned data
S-PVC Production Unit	13. 8. 2013
Caprolactam Production Unit	15. 8. 2013

Company has noted that production start-up after extensive Force Majeure is a complex business undertaking and requires to be conducted in compliance with all the applicable procedures and measures. SPOLANA will make its best effort to proceed with the above schedule however should there any factors occur that might influence the planned data relevant notice will be forwarded to all the interested parties.